CITY COUNCIL

Holds Special Meeting in the Council Chamber Last Evening — Brick Streets and Sewers Come Under the Consideration of That Body.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last evening in the Council Chamber. All members were present except Mr. Hunsicker.

On motion it was ordered that a drain be built through the lot of Mr. Omar Dodson on East Second street. In exchange for this privilege the city agrees to build sewers from Cherry Alley east to the next parallel alley.

On motion it was ordered that Government street be left at its original width, 31 feet, instead of cutting it down to 24 feet as the City Engineer was intending to do.

A building permit was granted to the Misses Petrie on Fifth street to erect a fire-proof garage on the rear of their premises.

On motion it was ordered that the Carlisle brick be substituted for Portsmouth brick on the Second street Extension as the contractors for this street have several thousand of the former brick left from their first contract with the city. If the Carlisle brick run out before the street is finished the Portsmouth block, as provided for in the original contract, will be used.

Mr. C. C. Lowrey then stated to the Council that he would begin to move the brick from Bridge and East Second street east of the bridge to the scene of their second contract today.

On motion it was ordered that the dirt from the extension except on the north side of the street by the Mason Lumber Co. be hauled to the property of Mrs. Hunter and dumped.

On motion Council adjourned to meet at the call of the Mayor.

WILL MAKE DEBUT

A Richmond, Va., dispatch says: "Miss Martha Buckner Wall, the debutant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerret Buckner Wall, of 1820 Monument avenue, is to be presented to Richmond society at a large ball given by her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wall will entertain at the Jefferson hotel the night of December 22. This is to be the only one of many parties planned in honor of Miss Wall's debut. She is one of the most popular girls in the young set and has already been much entertained at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, where Mr. and Mrs. Wall have a cottage. Miss Wall bears a strong resemblance to her mother, who was Miss Louise Montmolin, of Lexington, Ky., was a noted belle and beauty of the Bluegrass section before her marriage to Mr. Wall, who is a native of Maysville, Ky., and is a prominent official of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, being assistant to President Stevens. Mr. Wall is a son of Judge Garrett S. Wall, of Maysville, who was one of Morgan's roughriders in the Confederate service. During the Confederate reunion held here in June, 115, Mrs. Wall served as official chaperon for the sponsors and maids of honor from the various Southern States."

JIM ALLEN, HE SAYS:

"In the goodness of his heart, Billy Hill, of the Bourbon News, sends us clippings showing that someone has handed Judge Rice, of Maysville, an umbrella, which he is anxious to return. That does not interest us. Nobody is anxious to return our umbrella."—Cynthia D. Democrat.

STINGING LETTER

Criticizing Wilson Is Sent to Lexington Herald by Mrs. Rost Pickett McDowell, Former Maysville Lady.

The following letter from Mrs. Rosa Pickett McDowell, daughter of the late Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, appeared in the editorial page of yesterday morning's Lexington Herald:

Editor of The Herald:
My Dear Sir—I hope a few lines from an ex-Kentuckian, who is still heart and soul a Kentuckian, will not be considered presumptuous, or in the popular language of the day, "butting in."

It has always been a pet belief of mine, that the women of Kentucky would eventually lift the dear old State out of the slough of machine and partisan politics. Her officeholders, both State and Federal, with very few exceptions, have shown themselves to be divided into three classes—hayseeds, fat-heads and villains.

They have blocked every effort on the part of earnest, intelligent and high minded women to uplift the State. Judge of my surprise to read in your highly valued publication, that 100 prominent women of Fayette county had united themselves into a league to aid and abet these political tricksters and mediocrities, to re-elect a man to guide our national affairs whose only consistent policy is "safety first."

Never was there an administration so lacking in patriotism, brains and ordinary common sense. Our prosperity is not caused by a wise legislation, but is the result of our enormous exports to the nations at war. The number of lives lost in our pitiful attempt to keep the peace (?) with Mexico is greater than the total casualties of the war with Spain, and has cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

The Germans hate us. The French reproach us sorrowfully and the British sneer at us. We, who live or travel in other lands and can see our beloved country from a distance realize only too well the prestige she has lost during the present administration. If the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic societies really honor and glorify the spirit of '76, (the pioneer elixir which made us a nation), they could never advocate the re-election of Woodrow Wilson.

May the shades of the old fighters of King's Mountain, Point Pleasant, Blue Licks, Bryan Station, River Raisin and River Thames rise up on All Hallowe'en Eve and remind their daughters that this country was not built by men who practiced "watchful waiting" or who believed in turning the other cheek or peace at any price even if some of them were "good Presbyterians."

Very sincerely,
ROSA PICKETT McDOWELL.
Mrs. E. C. McDowell, 49 Homewood avenue, Hamilton, Ontario Canada.

He was given his badge and immediately returned to his regular beat. The officer confessed of being guilty of misconduct in office but pledged that he would not repeat the offense. The committee did not take long to decide his case. Officer Throckmorton is one of the most popular men on the force and his many friends were glad to see him on his beat again.

MAYSVILLE ATTORNEY IN CASE

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Pat O'Reagan, Charged With Deserting His Wife and Family, Tried Before Judge Whitaker Yesterday Afternoon.

In Police Court yesterday afternoon Pat O'Reagan was tried before Judge Whitaker on a charge of deserting his wife and family. He was held over to the Grand Jury and his bond placed at $200.

O'Reagan is the father of five children, one of which was born a few days before his leaving home. He left for Cincinnati on June 8 and since that time his wife had heard from him but once. During his five months absence he had sent her five dollars for running the home, this being about the middle of August. Further than that she had heard nothing from him. Four days after his sudden leave taking his wife gave birth to the fifth child and as soon as she was able to do she began to work in the Maysville Cotton Mills.

O'Reagan claimed that he had been unable to secure work during the major part of the time he had been in the city. He stated that he had just recently received a position that he felt that would be permanent.

Before the trial began Judge Whitaker asked O'Reagan if he desired a lawyer and warned him that his offense was very grave and that he should avail himself of the opportunity to engage legal talent. This he refused to do however.

RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS FOR HUGHES

G. Dal Jones, Chief Telegrapher, Order Railway Telegraphers No. 91 of Chicago, comes out for Hughes. In his statement he says:

"There is a strong suspicion among thoughtful laboring men that the cause of labor will experience more harm than good from the Adamson law. Instead of having a hand in fixing their own wages, the unions interested are now discovering that the effect of the law is to take away from them the right of collective bargaining.

"The United States government itself fixed wages in this case. Laboring men, in other words, were suddenly made to work at wages fixed by law. Theoretically, it might be a fine thing to have Uncle Sam fix one's wages. But the average man would like to have something to say himself regarding the amount of wages he is willing to work for. If Uncle Sam is to fix wages, he may fix them at a low figure instead of a high one. What would the laboring man do in that case? The unions could not oppose the act of Uncle Sam without placing themselves in the attitude of lawbreakers. No union or set of unions could afford to oppose the law of the land.

"Capital is shrewd, persistent, and influential in high places. Will it not immediately seize the advantage by inducing legislators to fix wages by law? Then the situation would be this: Congress and the labor unions would be direct antagonists. Which one would win in case Congress and labor should become involved in a struggle?

"Far-sighted labor leaders do not want wages fixed by law. They see the pitfall for labor. They see that capital could beat them in the game of appealing to Congress. They realize that law-made wages mean industrial servitude. Labor would be forced to accept such wages or quit. To strike would be a crime, punishable by fine and imprisonment. That is the inevitable outcome of a system of law-made wages.

"The first attempt to fix wages by law resulted in a victory for the railroad brotherhoods. Would not the second attempt result in a victory for capital as against labor? Who can guarantee that a majority in Congress will always vote on the side of labor? It is said the brotherhoods secured the law by making a threat. Capital can threaten, too. A threat by capital to close down factories might frighten Congress into reducing wages during hard times. The reduced wage scale would not be merely the whim of capital, to be opposed by labor if it did not approve. It would be the law of the land, which labor would disobey at its peril. An individual might quite work if he wished, but any concerted action by labor unions might be treated as a criminal conspiracy. These are the possibilities inherent in any system of fixing wages by law. Therefore, thoughtful laboring men oppose the plan, and still stick to the better plan of collective bargaining through conference, conciliation, and arbitration. They will help to fix their own wages, in other words, rather than leave the decision to Congress."

THE DIPPY POINT

The Democratic national campaign methods have reached the "dippy" stage when they declare, even by inference, that the election of Mr. Hughes would plunge the United States into war.

It is to be regretted that the President is responsible for a declaration to that effect, a declaration which, although skillfully phrased, is an indication that even the occupant of the White House does not hesitate to descend to a point of misrepresentation which is so thoroughly absurd that it should be resented severely by those against whom it is directed.

But Mr. Wilson is losing no opportunity, however out of joint with reason, to make a case against Mr. Hughes.

"Did you ever hear a more preposterous proposition to present to men?" queries Mr. Hughes to his audience as the desperate meaning of the President's words is contemplated by him.

"I am a man of peace. I have been spending my life in maintaining the institutions of peace. I desire in that way to promote international peace. Who can think without horror of the ravages of war? Who can desire war? I don't desire war. I do not desire petty wars. I believe in correct policies. They will keep us out of war. The sort of thing we have been having will not keep us out of war. It will embroil us in difficulty. It did embroil us in difficulty in Mexico."

Then Mr. Hughes proceeds to review the story of the Wilson administration and its relations with Mexico. Mr. Hughes keeps within the confines of facts when he refers to the lives of the American soldiers sacrificed within the past few months in Mexico; of the raids made in the United States by bands of marauding Mexicans; of the great mistake made by the Wilson administration in sending its troops into Mexico without the consent of the provisional government. This act resulted in an armed clash between the troops of the two countries. Then followed the defeat of the American soldiers, the killing of a number of them, a conflict for which this country has no redress, because Mr. Wilson violated the terms of the treaty between this country and Mexico in sending troops into the land of a foreign nation under circumstances which enabled that country to resist them successfully, leaving the United States without recourse.

The President has had occasion to say within the past few days that reason still exists for the presence of troops on the Mexican border.

That is undoubtedly true. The reason for the necessity for our troops on the border line between the two nations is because a man of the vacillating habits of Mr. Wilson is in the White House.

And, in the face of a record of that kind, the President does not hesitate to charge that if Mr. Hughes is elected he will plunge the nation into war.

The proposition is too absurd to be worth a moment's consideration by any person possessing a normal state of mind illuminated by a scintilla of intelligence.—Commercial Tribune.

Democrats complain against the criticisms that have been directed at the President. The fact remains that the President refused to act in dealing with Mexico, Germany or Great Britain until forced into it by the volleys of the nation's criticisms. The minor achievements for which Democrats applaud the President were wrung from him by an indignant people.

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

"PROSPERITY"

The Democratic party is basing its chief hope of victory in this campaign on the cry of "prosperity." "Wilson has given us good times," say the Democratic orators, "therefore, he should be continued in office."

The Democratic party took over control of the National Government on the 4th of March, 1913. In October of that year the new Democratic tariff law went into effect. Between October, 1913, and the beginning of August, 1914 (when war began in Europe), the Democratic party and the Democratic tariff law had the destinies of the country in their keeping. And during that time the Democratic party and the Democratic tariff law ran absolutely true to form. No Democratic spell-binder raised his voice in the first seven months of 1914 to talk about busy factories and prosperous working men!

Below is a sample of the sort of news that was appearing in the papers during the months when Mr. Wilson and his party were laying to produce prosperity without the assistance of munition contracts:

200,000 JOBS ON NEW YORK FARMS

Unemployed in Metropolis to Be Shipped Up State.

New York, March 11.—Governor Glynn's plan for reducing the number of unemployed in New York city by deporting men out of work into the country, where labor is in demand, will be put into operation here for the first time tomorrow by C. W. Larmont, deputy State commissioner of agriculture. It is expected that the first carload of fifty men will be sent up State next Monday. It was said today that there were jobs for 200,000 men on up-State farms. According to the plan the governor has favored, the State will pay the cost of transportation, and married men may take their wives along.

WOODROW WILSON'S WOBBLY WAYS

THE TWO MR. WILSON

What this country needs said President Wilson in a speech at Chicago Thursday, is "a renaissance of the sense of patriotic responsibility."

The country generally will agree with Mr. Wilson on this point, with the added sentiment that a good place to begin this process of regeneration is in the White House.

As a phrasemaker the President is a magnificent success. As an interpreter of "the sense of patriotic responsibility" he has been a flat failure. Nobody will abuse him for this. It is temperamental. It is his way of preserving the honor and dignity of the nation.

When he sends an army corps to Vera Cruz to avenge an insult and withdraws the troops because the Mexicans get angry about such warlike conduct on the part of the United States, one naturally wonders where our national "sense of patriotic responsibility" has its abiding place.

When he sends another army of invasion, with Pershing at its head, to take the bandit Villa, dead or alive, and, after some of the bravest of our soldiers are ambushed and slaughtered, withdraws these troops at the peremptory demand of doddering old Carranza, again one is moved to seek the fountain head of our national "sense of patriotic responsibility."

When we say to a foreign nation of our own size that we will hold her to "strict accountability" for the destruction of American lives, and, the anticipated offense committed, we merely declare that "Some people may be too proud to fight," the spirits of more than a thousand little children, women and men, all entitled to the protection of "Old Glory," appeal from the bottom of the Atlantic ocean to this "sense of patriotic responsibility."

If President Wilson, early in his administration, had displayed a firm sense on patriotic responsibility, there would not today be very much of a Mexican question, we would be enjoying the respect of civilized nations of all the earth, while the fine art of phrasemaking is going on.

Those who are basing their support of Mr. Wilson on the theory that he "has kept us out of war" are either careless in their thinking or ignore facts that cannot be swept aside.

Twice has Mr. Wilson provoked war with Mexico and that we are not today waging a bloody conflict in that country is a blessing for which we can thank the Mexicans themselves. There are those who believe that growth of the meddling by the United States in the affairs of that nation when Huerta had been chosen President, and that it will require firm statesmanship and a "sense of patriotic responsibility" of a nature which has so far not been displayed by the administration at Washington to prevent a protracted, bloody and an expensive campaign in Mexico by the United States before tranquility is restored.

The one big problem now before the voters of the United States is whether they want their foreign affairs conducted by men who will formulate, a policy that is at one constructive, consistent, firm and unyielding to intimidation from without, or whether they desire another and an indefinite period of "Watchful Waiting," fine words and decay of national pride and efficiency.—Lexington Leader.

THE WIND FROM MAINE

A wind that's from the rocks and sea and scented by the pine Sweeps through the sycamores today, and where sequoias line The ranks of giant sentinels that guard the western slopes, The balsam of this briny breeze brings heavy hearts new hopes.

The mountains and the rivers cry the message that is Maine's To men whose pride was shattered, and their desperation wanes; Again their hearts are raised to look the future in the face For Maine has been the claron that's heartening a race.

'Twas shame that sunk the souls of us to depths we never knew In days our flag was honored in the harbors where it flew, When nations paid us homage, for they knew our hands were white, Ere blood of our own countrymen had stained them like a blight.

And now again our songs we sing of deeds that we must do To make the dream that passed away come marvellously true; For the sturdy souls that breathe the pine have brought to life again The faith that fills a nation's heart that feels the wind from Maine.

TWILIGHT SLEEP

HUGHES PITILESS ON MEXICAN DISGRACE

In His Mind and on His Tongue More Than Any Other Single Problem With Which Mr. Wilson Has Palttered.

CRAZY CHAPTER OF BLUNDERS

No One Can Hear Him Speak Without Seeing the Reality of His Indignation Over the Heartless Policy of the Democratic Administration Toward American Men, Women and Children, American Citizens, Soldiers and Sailors Along and Across the Rio Grande.

Soon after Mr. Hughes was nominated a friend said to him: "Governor, if the American people forget the Mexican disgrace they do not deserve to have you for President." Quick as a flash he replied: "The candidate who dodges the Mexican disgrace does not deserve to be President." He did not pass around his address of acceptance for compliment or criticism in advance of its delivery but the amount of space he devoted to the Mexican disgrace—"that confused chapter of blunders"—surprised no one who had talked with him since his nomination. It has been in his mind and on his mind more than any other single problem with which Mr. Wilson has palttered. To talk with him is to see at once the reality of his indignation over the heartless manner in which American men, women and children, American citizens, soldiers and sailors have been abandoned by the Administration along and across the Rio Grande, the victims of Mexican armed forces, outfitted with American ammunition and American rifles, Mexicans whom Mr. Wilson has coddled one day as patriots only to chase the next as bandits.

It is apparently the belief of Mr. Wilson that the people of the United States are not interested in Mexico. His defenders have declared that it was on "old story and out of date." Mr. Hughes has a better opinion of his fellow countrymen. He has proved himself a better judge of their feelings. He has made "the Mexican disgrace" a foremost issue of his campaign. He has assailed the record of the Administration in that respect in almost every speech he has made. He has never failed to strike a responsive chord in the hearts of his audience, whether speaking in Carnegie Hall, New York, from the platform of his train at Grand Forks, North Dakota, to a vast audience at Portland, at the Exposition at San Diego or in the prairie states of the Middle West. He has refuted the slander, sometimes heard in the effete East, that the people of the great West do not care what happens to their fellow citizens in Mexico or to the flag beyond the border. No man born in the West has a firmer faith in the fundamental patriotism and "dominant Americanism" of the people of that section than Mr. Hughes. He holds them responsible in large measure for the encouragement and support he received while Governor of New York in his war upon political graft and political bossism. He thinks they had much to do with conspiring him as the champion of nationalism in the current campaign. He showed his confidence in their practical idealism when he made "the Mexican disgrace" an uppermost issue of his campaign. He has been vindicated by the response his arraignment of the Administration on this score has everywhere evoked. From Maine to California "the Mexican disgrace" is a sore subject with red-blooded Americans today. But nowhere between the oceans are the outrages inflicted in Mexico upon American honor, life and property more keenly resented than around the fire-sides of the great West. Mr. Hughes is no stranger to the West. His straightforward talk on Mexico proves it.

VESSEL SUNK BY A WHALE

(Scientific American)

A report has been made to the Steamboat Inspection Service that on June 2, 1916, while the motor vessel "W. S." of 20 gross tons, was on its way to Mazatlan, Mexico, a whale came up under the vessel when it was about seven miles west of Geronimo Island, Mexico, and knocked a hole in the craft, which filled so rapidly that it quickly sank. The crew took to the lifeboat 10 minutes after the accident, and were all rescued.

COST OF DYES BEFORE THE WAR

(Engineering Magazine)

The dyes used on this side of the water cost the consumers between thirty and forty millions of dollars in normal times. This sum does not measure the total value of the industry, because in addition, to the dyes produced there are many drugs and chemicals obtained as by-products of the manufacture which swell the total to probably fifty millions annually.

Tests by scientists have indicated that thunder can not be heard at a greater distance than thirty-five miles.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ORGANIZE FOR HUGHES

800 railroad employees in Louisville have organized a Hughes Club. This tremendous charter membership indicates clear comprehension of the partisan purpose, the vicious tendency and the inadequacy of the Adamson law. They recognize the fact that it is of doubtful constitutionality, is temporary in its scope and reaches only one-fifth of the railroad employees and the those very ones who receive the highest wages. They note that for the future the President urges compulsory arbitration and insists that awards of arbitration shall become the record-judgment of courts and enforceable by court processes. They know that Mr. Wilson, by heredity and education, not only opposes organized labor but is in his mental concept opposed to free and independent labor.

THIS IS CERTAIN

The Proof That Maysville Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. Della Luneford, 328 E. Front street, Maysville, says: "I think kidney trouble came from a strain in my case. I had sharp, shooting pains through my kidneys and a dragging down feeling through my hips. I had dull headaches and dizzy spells and often if I hadn't caught hold of something for support, I would have fallen. It finally began to notice symptoms of dropsy. My feet began to swell and at times my hands were the same way. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

A PERMANENT CURE OVER THREE YEARS LATER. Mrs. Luneford said: "Doan's Kidney Pills have completely and permanently cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Luneford has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn, Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
